

The invention provides a chemical-mechanical polishing system for a substrate comprising a liquid carrier, a polishing pad and/or an abrasive, a per-type oxidizer, and a phosphono group-containing additive, as well as a method of using the same to polish substrates, particularly nickel-containing substrates.